FIGHTING FOR PEACE

We are now in an economic depression, and historically, for Britain, depression has often ended in war. The Soviet Union's demise has made the world a more dangerous place. In particular, its demise allowed capitalism to make war in Europe.

The US and British states have launched open assaults on Yugoslavia, Iraq and Afghanistan in the recent past. They wage covert wars, using Al-Qaeda terrorists as mercenaries, using drones, terrorism and sanctions, first against Libya, now against Syria. And next against Iran? They also threatening the independence and sovereignty of African countries and of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

In the early 1980s, the US government lied that the Soviet Union was using chemical weapons in Afghanistan. Then Bush and Blair lied about Iraq's weapons of mass destruction. Now Obama and Cameron lie that the Syrian government is using chemical weapons.

Capitalism turns to war in an attempt to solve its problems. We need peace. We need to focus on reconstruction not destruction. We need to defend nations' independence and prevent capitalism from seizing their resources. When countries unite in resistance to defend their resources, they are fighting for peace. What do British workers need to do?
